PASSENGER-FREIGHT WRECK INJURES 4 RY. MEN

DENSE FOG AND FOREST SMOKE PRIMARY CAUSE FOR KIMBERLY CRASH

Fast Passenger Train No. 60, Two and One-Half Hours Late, Shoots Around Curve and Into Freight Engine Extending on the Main Line

Engines Toppled Over Each Other, Baggage Car Telescoped; Engineer Dahl of Passenger Most Seriously Hurt; No Passengers Injured

Dense fog and thick, acrid smoke from the forest fires smouldering along Northern Pacific railway territory between Brainerd and Duluth was the primary cause for the head-on collision between a freight train headed out west on a sidetrack at Kimberly, and passenger train No. 60, running east from Brainerd, the collision occurring at 10:52 p. m. Thursday, and injuring four trainmen. No passengers were hurt.

4 Injured, All Being Duluth Trainmen of The Passenger Train

Alfred Dahl, engineer, 1424 East 4th street, Duluth, leg broken in three places and also injured in back. Was operated on at St. Joseph's hospital, Brainerd, as soon as received. Still under ether at 8:30 a. m.

James F. Mahoney, mail clerk, formerly of Brainerd and now of 325 Winona street, Duluth, cut back of head, back wrenched.

W. G. Jones, express messenger, 209 Third street East, Duluth, hand and head hurt.

Carl Janzig, fireman, 1911 Piedmont avenue, Duluth, back hurt.

Train No. 60 Delayed

The passenger, Train No. 60, was due in Brainerd from Staples at 7:11 p. m. It did not clear from Brainerd until 9:40. This train now makes all stops and runs on former flyer time.

It is a heavy train and is composed of a combination mail and baggage car, two baggage cars, a combination baggage and passenger car and three passenger car coaches.

Sharp Curve into Kimberly

Kimberly station is not on level track, the town being entered on a grade. Rounding the sharp curve and running down grade into Kimberly, the passenger engineer did not see the freight engine on the main line till the crash came.

Engines Pile Up

The big engine of No. 60 and the freight engine toppled over in a mass of wreckage. The tender of the freight swung to the main line and sideswiped the head of the passenger train.

The first car, combination mail and baggage, stood the brunt of the collision fairly well, thus saving the life of the mail clerk.

The next car, a baggage, not being so well built, was telescoped and the messenger Jones buried under an avalanche of trunks from which he was extricated by trainmen.

The balance of the passenger train held the track. No passengers were injured.

Relief Train From Carleton

A relief train was rushed to the scene from Carleton and conveyed passengers from No. 60 to Duluth.

No. 57 Near Freight

Passenger Train No. 57 from Duluth, due in Brainerd at midnight, had followed the freight into Kimberly, and as it took the siding, 57 remained on the main line near the Kimberly depot.

On the Freight Engine

Engineer and fireman of the freight engine jumped before the collision and thus escaped injury.

Transferred to Soo

Passenger Train No. 57 then ran up to the wreck, took on board the four wounded trainmen, and backed to McGregor where it transferred to the Soo line. From there the train ran to Ironhub and at Cedar Lake was again routed back on the Northern Pacific, arriving in Brainerd at 5:30 a. m.

Heavy Smoke

The train ran slowly on account of the heavy fog and smoke, which so thickly blanketed the headlight that its rays could not be seen 50 feet from the engine.

Kimberly Station

Kimberly is located 40 miles east of Brainerd and 80 miles west of Duluth. It is nine miles west of McGregor.

Long in Service

W. G. Jones, express messenger, has been in the railway service forty years and is widely known over the system.

MUDANIA PEACE CONFERENCE OFF, WAR CLOUD LOOMS

GRENADIER GUARDS TRAMP INTO CONSTANTINOPLE TODAY

KEMALIST CAVALRY APPROACH THE FORMER TURKISH CAPITAL

(By United Press)

Constantinople, Oct. 6—The grenadier guards, crack British regiments tramped into Constantinople today following the break down of the Mudania peace conference and the approach of the Kemalist cavalry toward this former Turkish capital.

The British forces were brought here by the impress of India, sweeping through the streets, bands playing, colors unfurled, and Constantinople's European population went wild with joy. Christians saw in the troops a bulwark against an Ottoman threat to take Constantinople, and march through to Thrace if the allies do not immediately cede this territory to Mustapha Kemal.

Meanwhile, the secret conference at Mudania has ended in temporary failure. The exact causes are not known because of the ban against correspondents.

It is reported today Turkish greed, once the allies showed signs of giving way regarding Thrace, caused an abrupt ending of the parley. Another report is that the Greek representative, General Mazarakis, refused to acquiesce in the slightest degree to Greek withdrawal from Thrace. The Turks are understood to have demanded that the handing over of Thrace and Constantinople take place immediately, while it was the idea of the allies that this should not be done until after the next peace conference. As a result of this impasse, Mustapha Kemal has come personally to take part in the dispute, and will meet with General Harrington, the British representative, at Broussa tomorrow.

35 DEAD, 6,000 HOMELESS, 8 TOWNS IN COMPLETE RUIN, $10,000,000 DAMAGE

(By United Press)

Toronto, Ont., Ovt. 6.—Thirty-five dead, 6,000 homeless, eight towns in complete ruins and damage amounting to probably $10,000,000 is the incomplete toll of a terrific multiple forest fire which swept the district of Temiskaming.

Halleyburg, county seat, was razed by withering flames which were fanned by strong southwest winds and the fire cut a swath through the central section of the stricken district.

Refugees are pouring into Northbay with stories of the disaster that exceed in horror anything Canada has known since the Mathieson conflagration of 1916.

Automobiles, wagons, and conveyances of every description still crowded the roads leading from the district today after a check up showed the full extent of the disaster. In some sections the fires were fought by volunteers and are still burning.

Rain which fell last night checked the main conflagration however, and saved the district in the path of the flames. Fifteen bodies have been recovered at Halleyburg, 17 at Heaslip and three at Charlton.

Whole Family Smothered in Home

Robert Bond, his wife and eight children and Mrs. Bond's brother, John Marshall, eleven years old, were found smothered in a house where they had taken refuge from the flames. While it will be days before anything like an accurate estimate of the death toll can be compiled, sixty lives were believed to be lost. Other fires in various parts of the province of Quebec were sweeping ahead today, still threatening villages, through which the endless streams of refugees poured.

Part of the northern Ohio lies a wasted charred area. From this territory, as the flames devoured woods, bridges, farms and settlements, men, women and children, terror stricken, came. Families were separated on the long hard trails, and some carried along little children for which mothers had sought in vain.

The rapidity with which the flames spread was increased by the way small inflamable trees lent themselves to the conflagration. And, thirty days of drought had prepared the section for devastation.

Berlin, Oct. 6—Reports from unidentified sources that ex-Kaiser Wilhelm in view of his approaching marriage had undergone a gland operation, stirred circles close to the former monarch to indignant denial today.

The report was characterized as "pure swindle" by sources intimately acquainted with the ex-kaiser. His friends declare Wilhelm has no need of such an operation, that he is in the best of health, and has not seen a doctor for several months.

Rail Strikers Re-employed

Minneapolis, Oct. 6—Between 60 and 70 shopcrafts employes of the Chicago & Great Western railroad's shops in the twin cities, who went on strike in the walkout of July 1, will be re-employed within the next three days, S. C. Rowland, superintendent of the northwest division, said today. Agreement has been reached by which the road is to re-employ strikers as rapidly as possible.

PEYTON WESTON, 84, SAYS HE HAS HIKED HIS VERY LAST HIKE

SITTING UP IN BED IN RED FLANNEL SHIRT, QUITS THE WALKING GAME

WESTON JUST COMPLETED HIS LAST 500 MILE WALK FROM BUFFALO

(By United Press)

New York, Oct. 6—Peyton Weston, 84 years old, walking champion, has hiked his last hike, he declared today.

Sitting up in bed at the Hotel Theresa, Weston, garbed in a red flannel night shirt, stated he was quitting the walking game.

Weston, when he walks down to the city hall stand today will have completed his last 500 mile hike which started from Buffalo on September 4th. It isn't that Weston is slipping physically, for all of his 84 years, he walks like a man in the prime of his life. On hikes the champion walker makes four miles an hour, and walks from seven to eight hours a day. The older he got the more speed he makes. He arrived here from Buffalo two days ahead of schedule.

23 BANDS BILLED IN DAIRY SHOW PARADE

GREATEST ASSEMBLAGE OF MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS IN CITY'S HISTORY EXPECTED

Minneapolis, Oct. 6—The greatest assemblage of trombones in the history of Minneapolis is scheduled for Oct. 12. And of clarinets and cornets and so on.

Processions headed by bands which will begin to center toward Minneapolis from all points of the compass Saturday, the opening day of the National Dairy exposition, will gather momentum and size, day by day, and cumulate Thursday in what is likely to be one continuous parade down Nicollet avenue, with residents out on the sidewalks all day long, reception committees exhausted, Mayor George E. Leach's handshaker out of repair and 5,000,000 musical notes clamoring for existence in the open air.

With only a portion of the counties in the northwest that are known to be planning to send train and automobile delegations to the National Dairy exposition heard from, show headquarters announced today that 23 bands are scheduled to pass down Nicollet avenue Thursday, Oct. 12. Present schedules show one band for Monday, when Anoka county arrives, five for Wednesday, 23 for Thursday, and none for Friday. In addition, Olmstead county will arrive Oct. 11 with a quartet, and Carlton, Oct. 12 with a saxaphone four.

The automobiles in the delegations scheduled to pass in review down Nicollet Thursday now number 2600.

Those scheduled for Thursday are St. Croix, Barron, Washburn and Pierce counties, Wisconsin and Carver, Sherbourne, Isanti, Meeker, Nicollet, Renville, Waseca, Chisago, Dakota, Kandiyohi, Rice, Polk and Olmstead counties, Minnesota.

Meeker, alone, will bring five bands, the Litchfield band wearing overalls.

On Wednesday the automobile procession may be larger, though present reports indicate less music. Stearns and McLeod, each with possibilities of 1,000 cars, will come Wednesday. In addition there will be Goodhue, Carleton Faribault, Beltrami, Morrison and Ottertail; and LaCrosse, Portage, Clark and Wood counties of Wisconsin.

On Tuesday there is to be another delegation from St. Croix, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota delegations, Freeborn, Mahnomen, and other northwestern counties and Mower.

Four governors will speak at the show. Tuesday is North Dakota and South Dakota day. Governor R. S. Nestos of the former and Governor W. H. McMaster of the latter will speak. Governor J. A. O. Preus will speak Wednesday, Minnesota day. Governor J. J. Blaine of Wisconsin will speak Thursday, Wisconsin day. Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois will speak Sunday.

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 6.—"Jock" Scott, the big North Carolina farmer who was thrown off the Cincinnati Reds three months ago as "excess baggage," became "registered baggage" here this afternoon when he pitched the New York Giants to a 3 to 0 victory over the Yanks in the third world's series game.

Scott got his passage from Cincinnati because of the doctors saying his arm was no good. He had to cry to get a job with the Giants, and he would not have had the chance to star if McGraw had had anyone else to pitch. The ponderous southerner tied the Yanks in knots and held the American League champions to four scattered hits, smothered the great Babe Ruth and laughed at the Huggins batters as they tried to hit his fast balls and curves.

With their characteristic dash, the Giants got busy early. They hopped on Waite Hoyt, the boy hero of the last series, in the first inning when Ward saved him by a spectacular stop and double play.

In the third inning, the same young Ward went to the other extreme when he kicked Bancroft's grounder into the left field and paved the way for a rally that netted the Giants two runs.

Jock Scott, who starred all the way, started the second inning with a single. Ward then muffed up Bancroft's hit. Groh hit to Hoyt and Scott was run down near third.

Frisch scored Bancroft with a long sacrifice fly to center and Irish Meusel who had driven in five runs in the first two games, scored Groh with a smashing single.

Again in the seventh inning, the Giants attack registered.

With two down, Bancroft walked. The National league champions got their noted run and hit attack going, and Bancroft went around and over on two singles by Groh and Kelly. Scott showed supreme courage the only time he was in danger. In the seventh inning Bob Meuse singled and got around to third on Schang's double. Ward was taken out of the game, and Elmer Smith, former Cleveland Indian who hit a homer with the bases filled in the 1920 series, was put in as a pinch hitter.

Smith fanned and the Yanks' chances were gone.

Dissatisfaction resulting from the calling of yesterday's game in the tenth inning was not registered by the attendance. Giant officials were expecting a new attendance record, as the gates had to be closed before 1:30 p. m. and there was not a vacant seat in the place.

Sale of tickets for the bleachers for the third world's series game was stopped at 1:10 p. m. and a good sized crowd standing in line was turned back. Very few seats remained in the stand.

Yankee Lineup

Giant Lineup

The Umpires

McCormick at the plate; Owens, first base; Klem, second base; Hildebrand, third base.

First Inning

YANKS—Witt out, Scott to Kelly. Dugan flied to Young. Ruth out. Frisch to Kelly on infield roller. No runs, no hits, no errors.

GIANTS—Bancroft out to Hoyt unassisted. Groh singled to right. Ruth held him at first with nice throw in. Frisch singled through the box to center. E. Meusel lined into a double play, Ward to Pipp. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Second Inning

YANKS—Pipp singled to right. R. Meusel fouled out to Kelly. Schang flied to Cunningham. Pipp stole second. Ward out, Bancroft to Kelly. No runs, one hit, no errors.

GIANTS—Young dropped a single in left field between Scott and Meusel, but was out at second, Meusel to Ward. Kelly out, E. Scott to Pipp. Cunningham singled over first. Smith forced Cunningham at second. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Third Inning

YANKS—E. Scott flied to Young. Hoyt out, Frisch to Kelly. Witt walked. Witt was nipped off first, Smith to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

GIANTS—J. Scott singled past E. Scott. Bancroft was safe at first and J. Scott went to third when Ward muffed Bancroft's roller. Groh to Hoyt and Scott run down between third and home. Bancroft went to third and Groh to second. Frisch flied to Witt in deep left center, Bancroft scoring and Groh taking third after the catch. E. Meusel singled to right scoring Groh. Young forced Meusel at second. Two runs, two hits, one error.

Fourth Inning

YANKS—Dugan out, Groh to Kelly on first ball pitched. Ruth hit by pitched ball. Pipp fanned and Ruth was nearly doubled at first. Meusel was safe when Frisch muffed his roller. Ruth tried to reach third and was out, Bancroft to Groh. No runs, no hits, one error.

GIANTS—Kelly safe at first on a single to Ward. Cunningham up. Kelly out stealing, Schang to E. Scott.

Strike Breakers Quit as Free Board Stopped, Says Evans

("Star")

Following the posting of a notice by the management that free board would be discontinued Oct. 1, more than 200 tsrike breakers employed in the local shops of the Soo line quit their jobs yesterday, it was reported today by A. E. Evans, a member of the strike committee of the Soo Line federation.

In addition, Mr. Evans said, 37 strikers who deserted and returned to work last week, walked out today and rejoined the ranks of the strikers.

"These men could not stand the condition under which they were forced to work," Mr. Evans said, "so they quit and came back to our ranks. It is reported to us that they were not permitted to go from one department to another and were not allowed to talk to any of the other men. They could not stand this kind of treatment, so they quit."

According to Mr. Evans, the Soo line empoyed several hundred professional strike breakers in eastern cities with th promise of free board. The men employed, he claims, were not experienced and did nothing more than fill space in the shops. When it was found that these men could not do the work, it is said, the management posted a notice to discontinue the custom of allowing free board, effective Oct. 1. As the result of this notice Mr. Evans claims that 200 quit their jobs.

The local strike committee in regard to the situation at Duluth, reported that more men are leaving the Soo shops there, which is true also of all other points on the line. Duluth strikers are holding firm, they report.

Iowa Serves Notice on M. & St. L. to Clear Liness

(Star)

The Iowa state railroad and warehouse commission has served notice on the officials of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad in that state not to accept any omre freight shipments until their lines are cleared, says report given out by S. O. Lamberi, member of the local strike committee, today.

Mr. Lambert said that there were 6,000 cars of coal between Marshalltown, Ia., and points south, which are tied up by reason of the shortage of locomotive power. In addition to this, nearly all the coal mines in Iowa have been forced to close down because of a shortage of cars, he said.

With the commission's order in effect the railroad officials will be forced to make settlement with the shopmen or cease operations all together, Mr. Lambrt said.

PASSENGER-FREIGHT WRECK INJURES 4 RY. MEN

DENSE FOG AND FOREST SMOKE PRIMARY CAUSE FOR KIMBERLY CRASH

Fast Passenger Train No. 60, Two and One-Half Hours Late, Shoots Around Curve and Into Freight Engine Extending on the Main Line

Engines Toppled Over Each Other, Baggage Car Telescoped; Engineer Dahl of Passenger Most Seriously Hurt; No Passengers Injured

Dense fog and thick, acrid smoke from the forest fires smouldering along Northern Pacific railway territory between Brainerd and Duluth was the primary cause for the head-on collision between a freight train headed out west on a sidetrack at Kimberly, and passenger train No. 60, running east from Brainerd, the collision occurring at 10:52 p. m. Alfred Dahl, engineer, 1424 East 4th street, Duluth, leg broken in three places and also injured in back. Was operated on at St. Joseph's hospital, Brainerd, as soon as received. Still under ether at 8:30 a. m.

James F. Mahoney, mail clerk, formerly of Brainerd and now of 325 Winona street, Duluth, cut back of head, back wrenched.

W. G. Jones, express messenger, 209 Third street East, Duluth, hand and head hurt.

Carl Janzig, fireman, 1911 Piedmont avenue, Duluth, back hurt.

Train No. 60 Delayed

The passenger, Train No. 60, was due in Brainerd from Staples at 7:11 p. m. It did not clear from Brainerd until 9:40. This train now makes all stops and runs on former flyer time.

It is a heavy train and is composed of a combination mail and baggage car, two baggage cars, a command passenger car and three passenbination baggage and passenger car and three passenger car coaches.

Sharp Curve into Kimberly

Kimberly station is not on level track, the town being entered on a grade. Rounding the sharp curve and running down grade into Kimberly, the passenger engineer did not see the freight engine on the main line till the crash came.

The balance of the passenger train held the track. No passengers were injured.

Relief Train From Carleton

A relief train was rushed to the scene from Carleton and conveyed passengers from No. 60 to Duluth.

No. 57 Near Freight

Passenger Train No. 57 from Duluth, due in Brainerd at midnight, had followed the freight into Kimberly, and as it took the siding, 57 remained on the main line near the Kimberly depot.

On the Freight Engine

Engineer and fireman of the freight engine jumped before the collision and thus escaped injury.

Transferred to Soo

Passenger Train No. 57 then ran up to the wreck, took on board the four wounded trainmen, and backed to McGregor where it transferred to the Soo line. From there the train ran to Ironhub and at Cedar Lake was again routed back on the Northern Pacific, arriving in Brainerd at 5:30 a. m.

Heavy Smoke

The train ran slowly on account of the heavy fog and smoke, which so thickly blanketed the headlight that its rays could not be seen 50 feet from the engine.

Kimberly Station

Kimberly is located 40 miles east of Brainerd and 80 miles west of Duluth. It is nine miles west of McGregor.

Scott got his passage from Cincinnati because of the doctors saying his arm was no good. He had to cry to get a job with the Giants, and he would not have had the chance to star if McGraw had had anyone else to pitch. The ponderous southerner tied the Yanks in knots and held the American League champions to four scattered hits, smothered the great Babe Ruth and laughed at the Huggins batters as they tried to hit his fast balls and curves.

With their characteristic dash, the Giants got busy early. They hopped on Waite Hoyt, the boy hero of the last series, in the first inning when Ward saved him by a spectacular stop and double play.

In the third inning, the same young Ward went to the other extreme when he kicked Bancroft's grounder into the left field and paved the way for a rally that netted the Giants two runs.

Jock Scott, who starred all the way, started the second inning with a single. Ward then muffed up Bancroft's hit. Groh hit to Hoyt and Scott was run down near third.

Frisch scored Bancroft with a long sacrifice fly to center and Irish Meusel who had driven in five runs in the first two games, scored Groh with a smashing single.

Again in the seventh inning, the Giants attack registered.

With two down, Bancroft walked. The National league champions got their noted run and hit attack going, and Bancroft went around and over on two singles by Groh and Kelly. Scott showed supreme courage the only time he was in danger. In the seventh inning Bob Meuse singled and got around to third on Schang's double. Ward was taken out of the game, and Elmer Smith, former Cleveland Indian who hit a homer with the bases filled in the 1920 series, was put in as a pinch hitter.

Smith fanned and the Yanks' chances were gone.

Dissatisfaction resulting from the calling of yesterday's game in the tenth inning was not registered by the attendance. Giant officials were expecting a new attendance record, as the gates had to be closed before 1:30 p. m. and there was not a vacant seat in the place.

Sale of tickets for the bleachers for the third world's series game was stopped at 1:10 p. m. and a good sized crowd standing in line was turned back. Very few seats remained in the stand.

Yankee Lineup

Giant Lineup

The Umpires

McCormick at the plate; Owens, first base; Klem, second base; Hildebrand, third base.

First Inning

YANKS—Witt out, Scott to Kelly. Dugan flied to Young. Ruth out. Frisch to Kelly on infield roller. No runs, no hits, no errors.

GIANTS—Bancroft out to Hoyt unassisted. Groh singled to right. Ruth held him at first with nice throw in. Frisch singled through the box to center. E. Meusel lined into a double play, Ward to Pipp. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Second Inning

YANKS—Pipp singled to right. R. Meusel fouled out to Kelly. Schang flied to Cunningham. Pipp stole second. Ward out, Bancroft to Kelly. No runs, one hit, no errors.

GIANTS—Young dropped a single in left field between Scott and Meusel, but was out at second, Meusel to Ward. Kelly out, E. Scott to Pipp. Cunningham singled over first. Smith forced Cunningham at second. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Third Inning

YANKS—E. Scott flied to Young. Hoyt out, Frisch to Kelly. Witt walked. Witt was nipped off first, Smith to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

GIANTS—J. Scott singled past E. Scott. Bancroft was safe at first and J. Scott went to third when Ward muffed Bancroft's roller. Groh to Hoyt and Scott run down between third and home. Bancroft went to third and Groh to second. Frisch flied to Witt in deep left center, Bancroft scoring and Groh taking third after the catch. E. Meusel singled to right scoring Groh. Young forced Meusel at second. Two runs, two hits, one error.

Fourth Inning

YANKS—Dugan out, Groh to Kelly on first ball pitched. Ruth hit by pitched ball. Pipp fanned and Ruth was nearly doubled at first. Meusel was safe when Frisch muffed his roller. Ruth tried to reach third and was out, Bancroft to Groh. No runs, no hits, one error.

GIANTS—Kelly safe at first on a single to Ward. Cunningham up. Kelly out stealing, Schang to E. Scott.

200 WALK OUT ON SOO, REPORT

Strike Breakers Quit as Free Board Stopped, Says Evans

("Star")

Following the posting of a notice by the management that free board would be discontinued Oct. 1, more than 200 tsrike breakers employed in the local shops of the Soo line quit their jobs yesterday, it was reported today by A. E. Evans, a member of the strike committee of the Soo Line federation.

In addition, Mr. Evans said, 37 strikers who deserted and returned to work last week, walked out today and rejoined the ranks of the strikers.

"These men could not stand the condition under which they were forced to work," Mr. Evans said, "so they quit and came back to our ranks. It is reported to us that they were not permitted to go from one department to another and were not allowed to talk to any of the other men. They could not stand this kind of treatment, so they quit."

According to Mr. Evans, the Soo line empoyed several hundred professional strike breakers in eastern cities with th promise of free board. The men employed, he claims, were not experienced and did nothing more than fill space in the shops. When it was found that these men could not do the work, it is said, the management posted a notice to discontinue the custom of allowing free board, effective Oct. 1. As the result of this notice Mr. Evans claims that 200 quit their jobs.

The local strike committee in regard to the situation at Duluth, reported that more men are leaving the Soo shops there, which is true also of all other points on the line. Duluth strikers are holding firm, they report.

PUTS EMBARGO ON RAIL FREIGHT

Iowa Serves Notice on M. & St. L. to Clear Liness

(Star)

The Iowa state railroad and warehouse commission has served notice on the officials of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad in that state not to accept any omre freight shipments until their lines are cleared, says report given out by S. O. Lambert, member of the local strike committee, today.

Mr. Lambert said that there were 6,000 cars of coal between Marshalltown, Ia., and points south, which are tied up by reason of the shortage of locomotive power. In addition to this, nearly all the coal mines in Iowa have been forced to close down because of a shortage of cars, he said.

With the commission's order in effect the railroad officials will be forced to make settlement with the shopmen or cease operations all together, Mr. Lambrt said.

FIND SEVERED HEAD, MUTILATED TORSO

NEW YORK POLICE BELIEVE SEVERAL LIMBS WILL BE FOUND NEXT

(By United Press.)

New York, Oct. 6—The ghastly discovery of a severed head in a sack in Bronx Park last Sunday was augmented today by the finding of a mutilated human torso part of the same body.

Police renewed their "fine tooth" combing of the park for other parts of the murdered man, for physicians have pronounced the victim a male. They believe that the murderer or his agents are coming again with the several limbs of the corpse. They believe the torso was placed in the park yesterday. It was wedged between two rocks. Efforts at identification have failed.

ADVERTISING BY PUBLIC UTILITIES CALLED DUTY

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Advertising day after day, week after week, month after month, as the best method by which public utilities may overcome public prejudice, was urged by W. H. Sawyer, president of the East St. Louis & Suburban Railway company, speaking here today before the American Electric Railway association's convention.

"Few really going, progressive concerns in any other business spend less than 1 per cent of their gross on advertising and many spend 5 per cent," he declared.

"I believe in consistent advertising, not defensive advertising brought about by necessity, but advertising calculated to prevent the need of a stonewall defense. Advertising is a duty which we owe to our public, our customers, and it is good business."

That the bus has a place in light traffic, but should be operated by electric railway managements as an adjunct to their regular service and not as a competitive agency, was the report by a committee composed in part of bus owners of a year ago.

Charges Klan Leader With Fraudulent Scheme

(By United Press)

Atlanta, Georgia, Oct. 6—Edward Y. Clarke, Imperial Kleagle of the Knights of Ku Klux Klan today charged that the indictment returned against him by federal grand jury was "further evidence" of prosecution because of "my conection with the Klan".

The indictment charged Clarke with "using the mails to effect a scheme to defraud".

According to the allegations in a motion accompanying the indictment, Clarke used the mails to collect money on the folowing plan:

High officers of the Klan were bonded and they paid the premiums on their personal bonds. It is alleged that the amounts collected were far in excess of the actual costs of the bonds, and that this excess was converted to Clarke's personal use."

In his decision, Gleason held that Baby Guy Stillman was a legitimate son of James A. Stillman, New York banker; that Mrs. Stillman was not guilty of infidelity; that Stillman had been guilty of misconduct, and that Stillman was not entitled to a divorce.

SHOT GUN BANDITS ROB FILLING STATION

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Oct. 6.—Two shot gun bandits held up a Standard Oil company filling station last night, and escaped in a stolen automobile with $55. They then attempted to hold up another station, but the man in charge ran into the street. One of the bandits attempted to shoot him. In the escape the car crashed into a curbing in front of the court house. The bandits leaped from the car and escaped.

SOLVED WHEN 'CERTAIN PEOPLE' TELL TRUTH

(By United Press.)

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 6.—An arrest is imminent in the Hall-Mills murder mustery, Prosecutor Strickler of Middlesex promised today following an autopsy of the body of the slain pastor.

Charging important witnesses have testified falsely, Assistant Prosecutor Toulan plans to recall them. He declares a solution of the mystery of the murder, his proposed flight with his pretty choir leader, and their violent deaths while together at the lonely Phillips farm, will come when "certain people" tell the truth.

DENIES MOTION FOR REHEARING

(By United Press.)

The court also denied the request of the defense for a bill of particulars at this time.

BAR OF ROSES

By MILDRED WHITE

©, 1922, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The little house stood back from the roadside. A tiny house, indeed, but up to its doorway yellow rose shrubs bordered a path, barring against intruders. Constance, viewing the picture from the car, was delighted.

"Philip," she said to the man at her side, "I will stop here to wait until you have finished your law business."

Constance Dare's fiance smilingly agreed.

"All right, dear," he replied

Constance sank into a wide porch chair and smiled at her host, who came through the cottage door. He seated himself on the step with an apology.

"I am permitted so seldom to see strangers that to talk with them is a treat. If you have stopped in the village you, no doubt, heard of the hermit?"

"We did not stop in the village," answered Constance. "I accompanied a friend, who is here on a matter of law, and he has gone on to see the local attorney, who lives, I believe, further up the hill."

The old man nodded.

"Farther up the hill are our fine residences. Here is desolation."

"Beautiful desolation!" said Constance; then eagerly leaned forward. "You were going to tell me about your —hermit life?"

They were seated in the little porch when the hermit told his story.

"My home, as a young man, was up the hill," he began. "There I loved and married, as I truly believed, the sweetest, truest girl in the world. The sad part is that, through all the years, she has been to me the sweetest—and will ever be. My past love could not alter, even in face of her faithlessness. It was when our boy was a little lad, twining himself about his father's heartstrings, that Eleanor left me. Her note said that love had never entered into her marriage. My money was the motive of her parents' influence—an influence that won. But now, she wrote, love had found her, and love she would not deny.

"It was a poor sort of divorce that she was able to obtain from me in a state where laws are convenient; but it answered Nellie's purpose. Six months afterward she came for my boy. I loved him—so did she; there was no doubt of that—in the wreck of her life that love still bloomed a beautiful thing. So I gave my boy to her. It was the only thing that I could do when Nellie asked me. And she took him away with her to that far state where the man she cared for lived, and I never saw my son again. When I had made the property on the hill over to him, that he might inherit it only after my wife's death, I came down to live in solitude with my books —renouncing a life that had taken from me all I had and given nothing.

"In a measure I am content. But I will have no small boys crossing my solitude; little boys, with all their trust in life shining in their happy faces—boys that return for a father's greeting—against these I set my bar of roses."

Constance found her face wet with tears. Into the roadway swung the automobile. Philip Amsden, jumping out, came to claim his fiancee.

Slowly, at his approach, the old man arose from his chair. Across the worn face flashed a white light. Philip, waiting, gazed as one fascinated, into the sorrowful eyes.

"Your name?" Philip asked, sharply.

In a whisper the old man gave it.

"I am Philip Amsden," he said.

"I thought there could be no mistake!" The young man's tone was still curt. "It was my mother who placed your picture in my room. I had no wish for it there—a father who deliberately gave up his own son. And it was only after mother's recent death that I learned of your bequest to me; my errand today was to see that it is returned. I will take no gift from a man who forswears his son."

Dumbly the hermit stood. Constance put a caressing arm around each.

"Philip," she said, "we have traveled down no road of chance today. We came to bring your father back to his own. To make up to him in our own home—you and I—for years of loneliness."

Above her head the men looked, in sudden understanding.

"How very sweet," said Constance, "the roses smell."

Constance sank into a wide porch chair and smiled at her host, who came through the cottage door. He seated himself on the step with an apology.

"I am permitted so seldom to see strangers that to talk with them is a treat. If you have stopped in the village you, no doubt, heard of the hermit?"

"We did not stop in the village," answered Constance. "I accompanied a friend, who is here on a matter of law, and he has gone on to see the local attorney, who lives, I believe, further up the hill."

The old man nodded.

"Farther up the hill are our fine residences. Here is desolation."

"Beautiful desolation!" said Constance; then eagerly leaned forward. "You were going to tell me about your —hermit life?"

They were seated in the little porch when the hermit told his story.

"My home, as a young man, was up the hill," he began. "There I loved and married, as I truly believed, the sweetest, truest girl in the world. The sad part is that, through all the years, she has been to me the sweetest—and will ever be. My past love could not alter, even in face of her faithlessness. It was when our boy was a little lad, twining himself about his father's heartstrings, that Eleanor left me. Her note said that love had never entered into her marriage. My money was the motive of her parents' influence—an influence that won. But now, she wrote, love had found her, and love she would not deny.

"It was a poor sort of divorce that she was able to obtain from me in a state where laws are convenient; but it answered Nellie's purpose. Six months afterward she came for my boy. I loved him—so did she; there was no doubt of that—in the wreck of her life that love still bloomed a beautiful thing. So I gave my boy to her. It was the only thing that I could do when Nellie asked me. And she took him away with her to that far state where the man she cared for lived, and I never saw my son again. When I had made the property on the hill over to him, that he might inherit it only after my wife's death, I came down to live in solitude with my books —renouncing a life that had taken from me all I had and given nothing.

"In a measure I am content. But I will have no small boys crossing my solitude; little boys, with all their trust in life shining in their happy faces—boys that return for a father's greeting—against these I set my bar of roses."

Constance found her face wet with tears. Into the roadway swung the automobile. Philip Amsden, jumping out, came to claim his fiancee.

Slowly, at his approach, the old man arose from his chair. Across the worn face flashed a white light. Philip, waiting, gazed as one fascinated, into the sorrowful eyes.

"Your name?" Philip asked, sharply. In a whisper the old man gave it.

"I am Philip Amsden," he said.

"I thought there could be no mistake!" The young man's tone was still curt. "It was my mother who placed your picture in my room. I had no wish for it there—a father who deliberately gave up his own son. And it was only after mother's recent death that I learned of your bequest to me; my errand today was to see that it is returned. I will take no gift from a man who forswears his son."

Dumbly the hermit stood. Constance put a caressing arm around each.

"Philip," she said, "we have traveled down no road of chance today. We came to bring your father back to his own. To make up to him in our own home—you and I—for years of loneliness."

Above her head the men looked, in sudden understanding.

"How very sweet," said Constance, "the roses smell."

This is a comparatively new product intended to aid the housewife in making jell quickly and easily. It is a concentrated fruit pectin which the housewife may use with fresh fruit juices or those remaining in the jar after canned fruits have been removed. Grape and other fruit juices furnish jelly timber in conjunction with this product. In combination with grated pineapple it produces a tasty jell.

BRAINERD BASEBALL CLUB 1922 SEASON

Sixteen Games Were Played in Which Brainerd Won Eight, Lost Seven, and Tied One

APPRECIATION IS EXPRESSED

Indebted to Clyde E. Parker For His Loyal Support and Enthusiasm Generated

The Brainerd Baseball Club has concluded its 1922 season. Sixteen games were played, out of which Brainerd won eight, lost seven and tied one. They played a number of games out of town and made several long trips, all of which the players enjoyed.

The club feels greatly indebted to Clyde E. Parker, the treasurer, and it is chiefly due to his untiring efforts that the club was as much of a success this year as it turned out to be. Mr. Parker put his whole soul into the enterprise, and proved an inspiration to the players, giving them his loyal support all through the season, which was appreciated by every man on the team, and to which they all quickly responded.

At the close of the season the club had on hand $43.18 and at the beginning of the year they had nothing. This is a very good report, considering that not a cent was solicited by the team from anyone. Theirs has been a self-maintaining organization.

The business men have been very generous with their cars in helping the players get from one town to another. A list of those who have helped in this way follows: A. Smracker, John Kolias, M. Mahlum, C. E. Parker, H. C. Gaskill, W. J. Leneau, O. Lund, F. Engle, John Belfy, Arthur Ludwig, E. Richmond, James Graham, Grover Bliss, Frank Cater, Eli Caron, Frank Zwack, Otto Kretzman, Andrew Anderson, Mrs. F. S. Parker.

The Brainerd Baseball club for 1922 takes this opportunity to thank John A. Hoffbauer and I. C. Strout for the loan of their suits which they have in their possession, and will be returned to Mr Strout.

RELIEF FROM DROUGHT WAS PROMISED TODAY

(By United Press.)

Washington, Oct. 6.—Relief from the dought that has been damaging crops all over the country was promised today by the weather bureau here.

"There will be rain pretty generally east of the Mississippi river within 36 to 48 hours, the official forecaster stated.

Drought and frost have caused damage to maturing crops all over the country, the agricultural department announced. In sections affected by the drought, high temperatures have caused some crops to mature too rapidly.

Plowing and seeding of fall sown grains have been seriously delayed by the dry season and are reported to be practically at a standstill in Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

Washington, Oct. 6—The promised rain if it materializes on schedule time, will break a dry spell that in some localities has lasted for thirty days. This lack of moisture, the agricultural department stated today has not only damaged crops over a wide area, but has seriously delayed fall sowing.

In some localities streams and springs have dried up. In the west and northwest forest fires have resulted causing great damage. Live stock conditions are reported excellent from all sections.

GOVERNMENT STARTS $2,408,267.41 SUIT

(By United Press)

Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 6—The Dayton Ohio company today were notified that the government had sued for recovery of $2,408,267.41. The suit represents the government's first so called "war frauds" case against an airplane company.

The amount is alleged to have been fraudulently paid to the company, which formerly was the Dayton Wright Airplane company, by government officers.

Seven contracts, in which were two where the government agreed to provide the company with $2,500,000 to carry out the contracts are mentioned in the suit.

TAG W. A. M. JOHNSTONE'S CAR

Just Previously He had Lauded the Police for Their Vigilance in Enforcing Traffic Laws

Four more offenders were added to the already long list in municipal court Friday morning, for driving their automobiles at night without proper tail lights.

The four included Hans Jenson, Walter Olson, J. Dassard and Andrew Nelson, each being fined the usual $2.

W. A. M. Johnstone's car was tagged Thursday evening, for being parked too near one of the fire hydrants while his wife and daughter were attending the theatre.

Mr Johnstone happened to be in the police office at the time the patrolman came in for a tag to put on the car, and not knowing whose automobile was being tagged, Mr Johnstone lauded the police for their vigilance in enforcing the traffic ordinances as they are doing.

Praises were not so loud this morning, when the clerk of court found that is was his car that had been tagged. Mr. Johnstone furnished the required bail and will appear to answer the charge at a later date.

In the case of W. J. Hall, who was charged with both reckless driving and assault, the first named charge was dropped, and only the latter one prosecuted.

SKIN DISEASE

Any skin disease such as acne, eczema, psoriasis, etc, is very unpleasant, but if the organs of elimination are working properly there will be no skin disease. If there is subluxation (displacement) of the vertebrae (small bones of the spine), causing nerve pressure and preventing the vital force from flowing freely to the kidneys, the latter will not function properly and the excretion will be thrown off by the pores of the skin, causing eczema and similar disorders. SKIN DISEASE
Any skin disease such as acne, eczema, psoriasis, etc, is very unpleasant, but if the organs of elimination are working properly there will be no skin disease. If there is subluxation (displacement) of the vertebrae (small bones of the spine), causing nerve pressure and preventing the vital force from flowing freely to the kidneys, the latter will not function properly and the excretion will be thrown off by the pores of the skin, causing eczema and similar disorders. TAXATION

SENATOR BORAH and Mr. Beveridge have been saying some interesting things recently in their respective states on the effects of high taxation. Mr. Beveridge has been insisting that taxation be considered by experts, whose advice should be accepted by the congress of the United States where tax reform legislation ought to be speedily introduced.

Senator Borah states that both "parties are equally responsible" for the excessive taxation that diverts liquid capital from industry. It is possible, however, to go a step further and assert that all of the people are to blame for the present excessive taxation. The country has not yet gotten over the war habit. When in war the people were ready to respond to any appeal from the government or from institutions assisting in war work, when once convinced that by their giving they would further the preparations for and active participation in the struggle. Such free giving developed a habit that has not yet been broken. Until the people as a whole tell their legislators that they will not supply the revenue, the merry spending will go on. Less money will be spent, and the estimates of money required to run the nation will be reduced, when the people decide htat it is time to withhold a great deal of what now goes to the government that it may be passed into channels leading to greater usefulness.

However, there will be no general reaction of this kind to the burden of taxation, until the people come to see that even the burden of taxation that is placed upon the shoulders of the wealthy does not stay there but is separated into smaller burdens wnich are passed on to be carried by all of the people. If taxation interferes with the free flow of capital into industrial expansion it affects the wage-fund in turn, and having reduced the income of the wage-earner it limits the demand for agricultural products. Senator Borah illustrates how it works by saying: "Until we have returned to normalcy in taxation, reduced freight rates are impossible. In 1921 more than half the earnings of the American railroads went for taxation."

With the per capita tax in Minnesota seventeen dollars in 1921 as against seven dollars in 1915 it is high time for the people to emphatically insist that congress and the state legislature practice that economy about whcih they speak so ably to the people. Since the war the tendency has been in the direction of subsidizing everything and everybody. But the war lies far enough behind for a new attitude to be taken to national affairs in the line of cutting out the subsidies, encouraging initiative, and getting to work with a will.

THE FIGHT IS ON

SENATOR KELLOGG is back in Minnesota asking the people of his state to examine his record as junior senator so that they may be properly prepared to cast an intelligent vote in November. Senator Kellogg is prepared to stand or fall on that record and is taking the position that if the people of the state are satisfied with that record of service he will be pleased to serve them again; but if, after examining his record, they conclude that he has not served their best interests, he is ready to step down.

His opponents are well along in their campaign and are holding up two things before their hearers which they attack mightily with the hope of focussing the attention of the people of Minnesota on these two things. They are Senator Kellogg's vote for the seating of Senator Newberry and his vote for the Esch-Cummins bill.

In holding these up to the public they do not mention the provisions of the Esch-Cummins bill which are of real advantage to the American people nor do they attempt to present the bill's provisions as they really are. They insist that the government is payment is based on the valuation of the roads, and this valuaroads, much of which they assert is watered stock, whereas the payment is based on the valuation o fthe roads, and this valuation will soon be corrected when the government statisticians have finished their task of placing a valuation on these properties.

Senator Kellogg is not to be brushed aside because he voted for the seating of Senator Newberry. The law which the senator from Michigan was accused of breaking was found to be unconstitutional. And for one party to violently criticize the members of another party, for voting as the republican senators voted when the party majority was threatened in the senate, is like unto the pot calling the kettle black. Senator Kellogg has the right to expect that the people of Minnesota who elected him six years ago will judge him on his record as a whole.

THE telephone exchange and the Brainerd Dispatch were a busy place Wednesday afternoon. All Brainerd was interested in finding out what the Brainerd boy did to the Giants. And many expressions of sympathy were heard when the result of the game was known. This also was heard: "Just wait until Bush pitches his second game."

As the 70-foot waves washed over the Aquitania some of the passengers—to quote Mark Twain—must have had the "Oh, my," rather bad. Many of them were anxious to reach America, but they kept on calling "Eu-rope, Eu-rope."

BRAINERD is awakening, and as soon as one man announces his intention others rush in to protect the interests of the city. But it is a good thing that there are men who plan things that others may oppose.

MRS. ANNA DICKIE OLESEN will impress the audiences assembled in a political campaign much more favorably than she would the members of the Senate assembled in Washington, D. C.

THE decline in the value of the German mark has marked American investors in such securities as marksmen who shoot at the wrong mark.

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota

Submitted by the Legislature at its General Session, 1921, to the People of Minnesota at the General 1922 Election Together with Statements of

Purpose and Effect of each

Prepared by

CLIFFORD L. HILTON

Attorney-General of Minnesota.

Addressed to

MIKE HOLM

Secretary of State.

ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA,
OFFICE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL,
June 30, 1922.

HONORABLE MIKE HOLM,
Secretary of State,
Capitol.

SIR:

As required by section 46, General Statutes of the state of Minnesota for the year 1913, I have the honor to furnish you, herewith, a statement of the purposes and effects of all amendments proposed to the constitution of the state of Minnesota by the legislature of 1921 and which are to be submitted to the electors of said state at the general election in 1922.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. ONE

Chapter 528, Session Laws of Minnesota for the year 1921 proposes an amendment to section 10 of article 9 of the constitution of said state. Said section now reads as follows:

"The credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation. Nor shall there be any further issue of bonds denominated 'Minnesota state railroad bonds,' under what purports to be an amendment to section ten of article nine, of the constitution, adopted April 15, 1858, which is hereby expunged from the constitution, saving, excepting and reserving to the state, nevertheless, all rights, remedies and forfeitures accruing under said amendment."

If amended said section will read as follows:

"The credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation, except as hereinafter provided. Nor shall there be any further issue of bonds denominated 'Minnesota State Railroad Bonds' under what purports to be an amendment to section 10 of article 9 of the constitution, adopted April 15, 1858, which is hereto expunged from the constitution, saving, excepting and reserving to the state, nevertheless, all rights, remedies and forfeitures accruing under said amendment. Provided, however, that for the purpose of developing the agricultural resources of the state, the state may establish and maintain a system of rural credits and thereby loan money and extend credit to the people of the state upon real estate security in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by law, and to issue and negotiate bonds to provide money to be so loaned. The limit of indebtedness contained in section 5 of this article shall not apply to the provisions of this section, and the purposes for which the credit of the state or the aforesaid municipal subdivisions thereof may be given or loaned as herein provided are declared to be public purposes."

The PURPOSE of said amendment is to develop the agricultural resources of the state by authorizing the lending of money and credit of the state to the people upon real estate security.

The EFFECT of said amendment, if adopted, will be to authorize the enactment of laws by the legislature for the establishment and maintenance of a system of rural credits. The legislature will be empowered to provide money by the issuance and negotiation of bonds of the state to be loaned upon real estate security to the people of the state, and will be enabled to prescribe the terms and conditions upon which such money may be lent and such credit extended. There will be no limit of indebtedness in this respect, and the state will be enabled to issue and negotiate as many bonds for this purpose as it deems advisable.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. TWO

Chapter 529, Session Laws of Minnesota for the year 1921, proposes an amendment to the constitution of the state of Minnesota by adding a new section to article 9, to be known as section 1A, to read as follows:

"Every person, co-partnership, company, joint stock company, corporation, or association, however or for whatever purpose organized, engaged in the business of mining or producing iron ore or other ores in this state, shall pay to the state of Minnesota an occupation tax on the valuation of all ores mined or produced, which tax shall be in addition to all other taxes provided by law, said tax to be due and payable from such person, co-partnership, company, joint stock company, corporation or association however or for whatever purpose organized, on May first of the calendar year next following the mining or producing thereof. The valuation of ore for the purpose of determining the amount of tax to be paid shall be ascertained in the manner and method provided by law. Funds derived from the tax herein provided for shall be apportioned: fifty per cent to the state general revenue fund, forty per cent to the permanent school fund and ten per cent to the permanent university fund. The legislature shall by law make the necessary provisions for carrying out the provisions of this section."

The PURPOSE of said amendment is to direct the legislature of the state of Minnesota to impose and to keep in effect an occupation tax upon those engaged in the business of mining or producing iron ore or other ores in this state, in addition to other taxes imposed by law, at a rate, based upon the valuation of the ore produced, to be determined by the legislature and to provide for the proportionate distribution of such taxes to the general revenue fund, the permanent school fund, and the permanent university fund.

The EFFECT of the amendment, if adopted, will be to direct the legislature to impose and keep in effect such a tax upon those engaged in said business; and to require that the proceeds of such taxes shall be distributed in the manner following, to-wit: fifty per cent to the state general revenue fund, forty per cent to the permanent school fund, and ten per cent to the permanent university fund.

Yours respectfully,
CLIFFORD L. HILTON,
Attorney General.

SIR:

As required by section 46, General Statutes of the state of Minnesota for the year 1913, I have the honor to furnish you, herewith, a statement of the purposes and effects of all amendments proposed to the constitution of the state of Minnesota by the legislature of 1921 and which are to be submitted to the electors of said state at the general election in 1922.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. ONE

Chapter 528, Session Laws of Minnesota for the year 1921 proposes an amendment to section 10 of article 9 of the constitution of said state. Said section now reads as follows:

"The credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation. Nor shall there be any further issue of bonds denominated 'Minnesota state railroad bonds,' under what purports to be an amendment to section ten of article nine, of the constitution, adopted April 15, 1858, which is hereby expunged from the constitution, saving, excepting and reserving to the state, nevertheless, all rights, remedies and forfeitures accruing under said amendment."

If amended said section will read as follows:

"The credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation, except as hereinafter provided. Nor shall there be any further issue of bonds denominated 'Minnesota State Railroad Bonds' under what purports to be an amendment to section 10 of article 9 of the constitution, adopted April 15, 1858, which is hereto expunged from the constitution, saving, excepting and reserving to the state, nevertheless, all rights, remedies and forfeitures accruing under said amendment. Provided, however, that for the purpose of developing the agricultural resources of the state, the state may establish and maintain a system of rural credits and thereby loan money and extend credit to the people of the state upon real estate security in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by law, and to issue and negotiate bonds to provide money to be so loaned. The limit of indebtedness contained in section 5 of this article shall not apply to the provisions of this section, and the purposes for which the credit of the state or the aforesaid municipal subdivisions thereof may be given or loaned as herein provided are declared to be public purposes."

The PURPOSE of said amendment is to develop the agricultural resources of the state by authorizing the lending of money and credit of the state to the people upon real estate security.

The EFFECT of said amendment, if adopted, will be to authorize the enactment of laws by the legislature for the establishment and maintenance of a system of rural credits. The legislature will be empowered to provide money by the issuance and negotiation of bonds of the state to be loaned upon real estate security to the people of the state, and will be enabled to prescribe the terms and conditions upon which such money may be lent and such credit extended. There will be no limit of indebtedness in this respect, and the state will be enabled to issue and negotiate as many bonds for this purpose as it deems advisable.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. TWO

Chapter 529, Session Laws of Minnesota for the year 1921, proposes an amendment to the constitution of the state of Minnesota by adding a new section to article 9, to be known as section 1A, to read as follows:

"Every person, co-partnership, company, joint stock company, corporation, or association, however or for whatever purpose organized, engaged in the business of mining or producing iron ore or other ores in this state, shall pay to the state of Minnesota an occupation tax on the valuation of all ores mined or produced, which tax shall be in addition to all other taxes provided by law, said tax to be due and payable from such person, co-partnership, company, joint stock company, corporation or association however or for whatever purpose organized, on May first of the calendar year next following the mining or producing thereof. The valuation of ore for the purpose of determining the amount of tax to be paid shall be ascertained in the manner and method provided by law. Funds derived from the tax herein provided for shall be apportioned; fifty per cent to the state general revenue fund, forty per cent to the permanent school fund and ten per cent to the permanent university fund. The legislature shall by law make the necessary provisions for carrying out the provisions of this section."

The PURPOSE of said amendment is to direct the legislature of the state of Minnesota to impose and to keep in effect an occupation tax upon those engaged in the business of mining or producing iron ore or other ores in this state, in addition to other taxes imposed by law, at a rate, based upon the valuation of the ore produced, to be determined by the legislature and to provide for the proportionate distribution of such taxes to the general revenue fund, the permanent school fund, and the permanent university fund.

The EFFECT of the amendment, if adopted, will be to direct the legislature to impose and keep in effect such a tax upon those engaged in said business; and to require that the proceeds of such taxes shall be distributed in the manner following, to-wit: fifty per cent to the state general revenue fund, forty per cent to the permanent school fund, and ten per cent to the permanent university fund.

Yours respectfully,
CLIFFORD L. HILTON,
Attorney General.

CAMPAIGN FOR SALVATION ARMY

Col. Wm. S. Barker of Minneapolis, Divisional Officer, Inspects Local Corps

FLAN TO RAISE ANNUAL FUND

Personnel of Local and County Board Given as Elected on Dec. 8, 1922

Most widely, internationally known Salvation Army officer, Col. Wm. S. aBrker, who is the divisional officer of the Northwest division of the Salvation Army, comprising Minnesota, oNrth and South Dakota, was in the city Thursday on an annual inspection of the local corps.

Col. Barker commanded the Salvation Army forces overseas during the entire period after the United States entered the conflict. How well the service was rendered is a matter of unsolicited history from the lips of the "boys" themselves.

This division is considered fortunate in having so able an executive at its head and in two years he has brought it up among the best in the United States.

Meets Executive Officers of Local Salvation Army Advisory Board

It was the privilege of some of the Brainerd Salvation Army Advisory Board to meet with Col. Barker at luncheon in the Ransford hotel and discuss intimately tactics, principles and policy of the Salvation Army and why and how the local boards should function in conjunction with the local corp officers.

Col. Barker paid tribute to the good work of the Army here and said that through the loyal support of the advisory board, it could give even larger service and would be better understood in the community.

The budget for the present year and this falls' campaign for funds were favorably considered. The entire membership of board and friends will be called in session at an early date. The board elected Dec. 8 for 1922 is as follows:

President—Carl Zapffe.

1st Vice President—Geo. D. Labar.

2nd Vice President—F. E. Little.

3rd Vice President—Henry I. Cohen.

Secretary—O. J. Bouma.

Treasurer—A. G. Trommald.

Campaign Manager—Sam R. Adair.

D. D. Schrader, chairman Service committee.

Clyde Parker, chairman Publicity and Speakers' committee.

H. E. Kundert, chairman County Organization committee.

Active members of committees of Board: W. C. Cobb, A. S. Peterson, J. P. Anderson, R. S. Wilcox, J. A. Thabes, John A. Hoffbauer, Mrs. Irma Hartley, Miss Islay McColl, E. G Roth.

County members: W. Van Evera, Crosby; A. H. Proctor, Ironton; H. J. Ernster, Deerwood, Julius Nelson, Pequot; J. J. Tucker, Ft. Ripley.

PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASSES

High School Students May be Added Students Preferable From English Classes

The general committee in charge of the classes in public speaking met last evening to make final plans for the two classes in this art that are just starting.

It was suggested by the committee that several high school students, preferably from the English classes, be given an opportunity of contesting for scholarship in this public speaking course.

Enough money could be raised by subscription or by donation from some public spirited citizens, the committee feels, to enable them to offer at least two scholarships to worthy students in the high school, through some kind of contest, the details of which could be worked out with the school faculty.

It will be necessary to take immediate action on this, as the second weekly meeting of the public speaking classes is today, and the work would be too far advanced if the contests were postponed very long.

AMMONIA FUMES GAS 100 FACTORY WORKERS

New York, Oct. 6.—"Gassed" by strangling ammonia fumes which poured through the factory building of the Skibo Confectionery company in Brooklyn today, 100 persons, including 80 girls, staggered gasping to the street. Firemen wearing gas masks entered the building to search for victims.

WHY THE LAKES ARE LOW LEVEL

Average Precipitation at Gull Lake Dam is Away Below the Normal Since Dam Was Built

SEVERAL VERY DRY FALLS

County Highway Engineer Murphy Believes the Lake Level Can be Raised and Made Attractive

In a letter to Leon E. Lum, relative to the amount of moisture that has fallen and been recorded at the government dam at Gull Lake, John Wade, chief clerk of the U. S. Engineer Office of the War Department in St. Paul, writes as follows:

"Dear Mr. Lum: The average precipitation for June, July and August at the Gull Lake dam since the dam was built in 1911 is as folows:

June—4:14 inches.
Juy—3.67 inches.
August—2.77 inches.

The precipitation this year was:

June—2.51 inches.
July—0.45 inches.
August 1-18—0.09 inches.

The above, coupled with several excessively dry falls in succession explains the unfortunate situation in regard to the lake level this year."

From the above letter it will be noticed that the rainfall recorded this season is far below the average for the respective months since 1911, and explains why all of the lakes in this territory are away below their level of former years.

County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy believes that this condition can be remedied, and hopes that the citizens of Brainerd and the surrounding country will take the matter up with county and state officials.

The lakes as lo was they now are, do not present the attractive appearance to tourists and other visitors in this section that they should, and if there is a means of raising the lvel of thee bodies of water, immediate steps should be taken to do so.

CITY AND SCHOOL NURSE

Miss Eula Michael Reports on Work Done in the Month of September

The city and school nurse, Miss Eula Michael, makes the following report for the month of September.

During the first two weeks of school a routine inspection was made of all the school children for the purpose of discovering any contagious disease, and during the month 18 cases of impetigo were found, 10 cases of scabes and 10 of pediculosis.

Of the major contagious diseases there were 1 case of diphtheria and 2 of scarlet fever.

The more thorough individual inspection was started and 40 children were inspected, notices were sent with 15 of these children, 12 medical, 2 with apparently diseased tonsils and 1 with defective vision.

One heart and chest clinic was held three adults attended. Dr. C. J. Woolway conducted the clinic.

Dr. R. W. Rupe, sent by the Minnesota Public Health Association, conducted a baby clinic September 14th and 93 babies were examined. The following defects were found—diseased tonsils 8, defective teeth 14 goiters 2, changes needed in diets 14, hernia 2, bowed legs 2, flat footl.

Dr. Rupe talked to the parents in the evening at the Chamber of Commerce. A health playlet was given by three school children. This playlet was also given at a Parent-Teachers meeting.

Cultures were taken of the pupils sitting near the child who had diphtheria and the reports were all returned negative.

Five truancies were reported to Chief of Police Graff.

Ninety-two calls were made during the month and 44 visits were made to the schools.

UPPER HALF OF BODY SUNK IN RIVER

Little Fall, Oct. 6—The upper half of the body of a young man found floating in the mill race canal here was sighted yesterday, but sunk, in thirty feet of water, and could not be located. The lower portion, badly decomposed, was found two days ago but there was no means of identification.

THOS. V. SULLIVAN TO SPEAK IN CITY

He Will be One of a Corps to Speak on Political Issues at the New Park Theatre

SATURDAY NIGHT, OCTOBER 7TH

As Attorney for the Federated Shop Crafts Mr. Sullivan is Claimed Versed in His Subject

Attorney Thomas V. Sullivan of St. Paul and other speakers will speak in Brainerd Saturday night, October 7, at 8 o'clock in the Park theatre.

The general public is cordially invited to attend as Mr. Sullivan is a well and favorably known public speaker who can talk on most any subject, but at this time the strike question and political issues will be given prominence in Mr. Sullivan's address.

Mr. Sullivan as attorney for the Federated Shop Crafts is, well qualified to speak on all phases of the shop men's strike, especially from a legal stand point, and it will be remembered that at the last state election Mr. Sullivan was a candidate for Attorney General on the Farmer-Labor ticket.

As the seating capacity of the Park theatre may be taxed to the utmost it is thought advisable that only the adult public be admitted.

The Brainerd Municipal band will be on hand to render a few selections and give Mr. Sullivan and his associates a rousing welcome.

LISTING CARS TO CARRY FARMERS

To the National Dairy Show at the State Fair Grounds October 7th to 14th

ALL FARMERS SHOULD ATTEND

Several World's Record Cows at the Show, Visitors Will be Entertained and Instructed Business men as well as farmers are getting much interested in the National Dairy Show to be held at the Minnesota State Fairgrounds, October 7 to 14. Chairman Zakariasen, chairman of the committee in charge of listing automobiles to carry farmers from Brainerd to the show, he reports that more cars will be needed than have been offered to date.

Many farmers are telephoning to Mr. Zakariasn that they wish to attend the Dairy Show, provided means of transportation can be provided, and he asks that anyone planning to drive to the cities on any of the above dates, get in touch with either E. G. Roth or himself, and give them the number of passengers that they can accomodate.

It will be to the advantage of every farmer to attend this great exposition. Super grade dairy cows are aiding the return of national prosperity and helping the farmer in an inestimable degree by giving him a good monthly cash income.

Several world's record cows will come to the Dairy Show, one of 665 pounds production will be in the special Wisconsin exhibit of 50 grades under the direction of Prof. K. L. Hatch, University of Wisconsin. This record is nearly three times the average cow testing association record for the country, which is 245 pounds.

With butter fat bringing 37c a pound, this Guernsey produced in one year $246.05 in money. With only eight such cows as this the average farmer could have a yearly income of $2,000. And there would be no uncertainty about the money coming in. Monthly cream checks are certain avenues of income.

Visitors at the show will be entertained as well as instructed. Those attending the evening programs will be treated to one of the most unique and interesting entertainments ever provided under such circumstances.

The headliner on this program will be "Healthland", the marvelous child health spectacle in the horticultural building. Then there will be amateur athletic contests and mounted vaudeville at the Fort Snelling Autumn Horse show which will be held in the Hippodrome on the last two days of the Dairy Exposition. There will be band concerts and acttle parades each evening. Governors from five states will attend and participate in the programs. All buildings will be well heated if weather conditions demand.

PIG SKIN TO BE IN ACTION AT CROSBY

Brainerd High School to Play Range Town on Iron Ore Field There Saturday

BRAINERD DRILLING AWAY

Coach Rosell Announces His Choice of a Line Averaging 155 Lbs. and Backfield 150 Lbs.

(W. G.)

They're off! The old town's football squad starts in motion on the iron ore field at Crosby this Saturday. After four weeks of vigorous practice, the locals feel they must show the results of Coach Rosell's careful coaching. Crosby's teams have always been good mixers, so the results of their first tilt will be the fundamental foundation for the dope on the succeeding games.

With surprising faithfulness the first and second strings have faced each other in scrimmage every practice night, while the side lines hold eager applicants for a tryout. Nine letter men have returned to form a skeleton for this year's football machine, while three or four promising battlers do their utmost to win recognition for each position on the team.

Coach Rosell's first choice to start the game averages a 155 lb. line with a 150 lb. backfield. The lineup is as follows:

C. Northrup and Nicholson.
G. Brown and Hukari.
T. Westberg and Clark.
E. Golemboske and Graham.
Q. Fogelstrom and Bergstrand.
H. B. Peterson, Heikkenen and Hess.
F. B. Molstad and Lowe.
Utilities. Orth and Zakariasen

A complete schedule of five games has been arranged:

Oct. 7—Brainerd-Crosby at Crosby.
Oct. 13—Brainerd-Little Falls at Brainerd.
Oct. 21—Brainerd-Staples at Brainerd.
Oct. 28—Brainerd-Little Falls at Little Falls.
Nov. 4—Brainerd-Crosby at Brainerd.

WRITES FRIENDS

Franz R. N. Anderson Wonders How Many Brainerd Men Will Go to New Orleans

Al. Mraz is in receipt of a letter from Franz R. N. Anderson, who is taking Veterans Training in Chicago. Mr. Anderson writes in part:

"Wonder if you and the bunch are going to New Orleans to the Legion convention. Perhaps, if you are, you will come through Chicago, and I shall get a chance to see you.

"I started training on September 18th and think it fine. Don't know exactly how long it will take me to finish.

"I had planned on going to the New Orleans convention, but have to give that up now, because of my training. Am very anxious to get through and open up a shop somewhere, so I can't loose any time from my work here.

"Give my best regards to all the Legion boys and any of my other friends that may inquire about me."

Mr. Anderson was at the head of the local Legion organization when a resident of Brainerd, and also very active in other civic associations. His many friends will be glad to know that he is settled in his veterans training and wish him much success in his chosen vocation.

Courage Wins.

AMERICAN LEGION QUARTET IS WINNER

Brainerd Organization Was Crowning Feature at Second Annual Banquet of Fire Chiefs

HELD AT CROSBY WEDNESDAY

Heads of Fire Departments From Crosby, Ironton, Aitkin, Deerwood, and Other Towns

The American Legion quartet from Brainerd was the crowning feature at the second annual meeting of the Range Association of Fire Chiefs at Crosby Wednesday evening.

Heads of the fire department from Crosby, Ironton, Aitkin, Deerwood, Cuyuna, Trommald and Riverton were in attendance, as well as many guests.

After the business session which started at 7:30 o'clock, the ladies of Crosby served a delicious chicken supper ,followed by an excellent program in which speeches were interspersed with music by the Brainerd quartet.

E. P. Scallon acted as toastmaster and called upon Judge Walter E. Wieland, A. A. Gieriet and S. F. Alderman of Brainerd, and Fire Chiefs Guith of Crosby, Erickson of Aitkin and Keeley of Cuyuna. Louis Bauer, Dr. Darling and F. M. Merrick also responded with toasts.

The Brainerd Legion quartette made a decided hit, responding to many encores. This song organization is gaining no little renown throughout the state on account of the work they did at the Virginia American Legion convention, and it is hoped that it will be possible to take them to the New Orleans convention.

PIG SKIN TO BE IN ACTION AT CROSBY

Brainerd High School to Play Range Town on Iron Ore Field There Saturday

BRAINERD DRILLING AWAY

Coach Rosell Announces His Choice of a Line Averaging 155 Lbs. and Backfield 150 Lbs.

(W. G.)

They're off! The old town's football squad starts in motion on the iron ore field at Crosby this Saturday. After four weeks of vigorous practice, the locals feel they must show the results of Coach Rosell's careful coaching. Crosby's teams have always been good mixers, so the results of their first tilt will be the fundamental foundation for the dope on the succeeding games.

With surprising faithfulness the first and second strings have faced each other in scrimmage every practice night, while the side lines hold eager applicants for a tryout. Nine letter men have returned to form a skeleton for this year's football machine, while three or four promising battlers do their utmost to win recognition for each position on the team.

Coach Rosell's first choice to start the game averages a 155 lb. line with a 150 lb. backfield. The lineup is as follows:

C. Northrup and Nicholson.
G. Brown and Hukari.
T. Westberg and Clark.
E. Golemboske and Graham.
Q. Fogelstrom and Bergstrand.
H. B. Peterson, Heikkenen and Hess.
F. B. Molstad and Lowe.
Utilities. Orth and Zakariasen

A complete schedule of five games has been arranged:

Oct. 7—Brainerd-Crosby at Crosby.

Oct. 13—Brainerd-Little Falls at Brainerd.

Oct. 21—Brainerd-Staples at Brainerd.

Oct. 28—Brainerd-Little Falls at Little Falls.

Nov. 4—Brainerd-Crosby at Brainerd.

Franz R. N. Anderson Wonders How Many Brainerd Men Will Go to New Orleans

Al. Mraz is in receipt of a letter from Franz R. N. Anderson, who is taking Veterans Training in Chicago. Mr. Anderson writes in part:

"Wonder if you and the bunch are going to New Orleans to the Legion convention. Perhaps, if you are, you will come through Chicago, and I shall get a chance to see you.

"I started training on September 18th and think it fine. Don't know exactly how long it will take me to finish.

"I had planned on going to the New Orleans convention, but have to give that up now, because of my training. Am very anxious to get through and open up a shop somewhere, so I can't loose any time from my work here.

"Give my best regards to all the Legion boys and any of my other friends that may inquire about me."

Mr. Anderson was at the head of the local Legion organization when a resident of Brainerd, and also very active in other civic associations. His many friends will be glad to know that he is settled in his veterans training and wish him much success in his chosen vocation.

Courage Wins.

The successful man jumps at a chance while the other fellow is balking at a logical conclusion.—Boston Transcript.

AMERICAN LEGION QUARTET IS WINNER

Brainerd Organization Was Crowning Feature at Second Annual Banquet of Fire Chiefs

HELD AT CROSBY WEDNESDAY

Heads of Fire Departments From Crosby, Ironton, Aitkin, Deerwood, and Other Towns

The American Legion quartet from Brainerd was the crowning feature at the second annual meeting of the Range Association of Fire Chiefs at Crosby Wednesday evening.

Heads of the fire department from Crosby, Ironton, Aitkin, Deerwood, Cuyuna, Trommald and Riverton were in attendance, as well as many guests.

After the business session which started at 7:30 o'clock, the ladies of Crosby served a delicious chicken supper ,followed by an excellent program in which speeches were interspersed with music by the Brainerd quartet.

E. P. Scallon acted as toastmaster and called upon Judge Walter F. Wieland, A. A. Gieriet and S. F. Alderman of Brainerd, and Fire Chiefs Guith of Crosby, Erickson of Aitkin and Keeley of Cuyuna. Louis Bauer, Dr. Darling and F. M. Merrick also responded with toasts.

The Brainerd Legion quartette made a decided hit, responding to many encores. This song organization is gaining no little renown throughout the state on account of the work they did at the Virginia American Legion convention, and it is hoped that it will be possible to take them to the New Orleans convention.

INTERSECTIONAL CONTESTS TOMORROW

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Oct. 6.—Six good intersectional games will brighten up tomorrow's football schedule, the first real week of the new season.

Three southern teams come north to engage three of the eastern leaders. North Carolina meets Yale at New Haven; Virginia plays Princeton at Princeton and the University of the South opposes Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

The University of Kansas, one of the leaders of the Missouri Valley conference, journeys to the plains of West Point to meet Uncle Sam's Cadets and midshipmen at Annapolis will have an intersectional combat with Western Reserve from Ohio.

In the middle west the big intersectional game will be played between Notre Dame and St. Louis University.

* * * * * * * * *

Tomorrow also provides the debut for football in the Western Conference. All of the games, however, are hardly more than workouts.

* * * * * * * * *

Fight followers of good judgment can't find words good enough to fit Pancho Villa, the little Philippino, who recently won the American flyweight championship from Johnny Buff. The youngster seems to have everything that becomes a champion and if he gets a bout with Jimmy Wilde there is little doubt that he will win the world's title.

Villa has a heart that is not awed by a champion and he is also a shrewd little ring man. When he met Buff for the title he was first in the ring and instead of avoiding the glances of the champion, he walked over and helped him through the ropes when he entered the ring.

He also works the trick of taking an opponent by the arm and leading him to his corner as if he were in distress when he had not damaged him at all.

* * * * * * * * *

As a rule, a champion tries to get the goat of an opponent by trying to look him down when they get into the ring or by making some slighting remark when the referee is giving them instructions.

Tut Jackson tried to bluff Harry Wills when the referee was telling them how they wanted to fight.

"Shall I go back to my corner when he's down?" Jackson asked.

Wills laughed out loud.

In the old days it was considered wise strategy for a fighter to go into his opponent's dressing room and taunt him with an offer to fight it out there before they entered the ring.

* * * * * * * * *

Jack Dempsey is a notable exception to the rule. He never has a thing to say before he enters the ring or while he is fighting. He doesn't even look at his opponent or try to pull any stage effects at posing confidence.

He never took his eyes off the floor before his fight started with Willard and his actions in the corner before the Carpentier fight would have led a casual observer to believe that the showy Frenchman was the champion.

In Jersey City, Dempsey sat humped over on his stool, fiddling with his fingers. Not only did he refuse to look at Carpentier or gaze around at the crowd, but he didn't even raise his head when Descamps, trying to get his goat, insisted upon making him wrap his hands two or three times.

* * * * * * * * *

Jack Britton and Benny Leonard are among the most notable exponents of goat-getting talkers in the ring among the present day stars. Both have saved themselves several times by cutting remarks when they were in trouble.

DECISION ON SELLING LIQUOR ON SHIPBOARD

(By United Press.)

Washington, Oct. 6—The government's action with respect to the sale of liquor on shipping board vessels will be finally determined at a conference late today, attended by President Harding, Secretary of State Hughes, Attorney General Daugherty, and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

An announcement will be made at 5 p. m. it was stated.

After That He Evaded Traps.

"Why have I never married?" the confirmed bachelor repeated a leading question. "Well, once upon a time in a crowd I trod on a lady's gown. She turned, furiously, beginning, 'You clumsy brute!' Then she smiled sweetly, and said: 'Oh, I beg your pardon, I thought you were my husband. No, it really doesn't matter in the least.' And when I came to think it over I decided that I'd better let marriage alone."

BUNT IS COMING BACK

The bunt in baseball is due to come back. The season of 1922 is certain to see a revival of the bunt as an offensive weapon. The lively ball and a desire to emulate the deeds of Babe Ruth has crowded the bunt off the baseball map for several years.

The bunt is a one-run play. It means much to get a one-run advantage under the ordinary conditions. For several years, however, one run has meant nothing in the life of a ball team.

The lively ball always opened up possibilities for getting runs in clusters. For that reason most teams kissed the bunt good-by, placing it securely away with the moth balls.

With a less lively ball and better pitching the bunt is sure to return to popular favor during this season.

It's a great method to put the opposition in the air, throw a pitcher off his stride, one of baseball's most dangerous weapons on offense.

REVENGE VERY SWEET TO CAST-OFF PLAYER

Released Ball Stars Come Back for Vindication.

Urban Shocker of St. Louis Browns Known as Nemesis of New York Yankees—Johnston Gets Even With the Indians.

Revenge tastes fairly sweet under ordinary circumstances but there must be a fierce joy in the public revenge of a cast-off ball player.

The Yankees hocked Urban Shocker to the Browns in 1918 and ever since then Shocker has been known as the nemesis of the Yankees. His chief delight is to pitch to Babe Ruth at the Polo grounds where all New York may see, scorning the intentional pass because he seems to know that he has more "on" the Bam than any other pitcher in the league.

The Indians got rid of Doc Johnston because he was too old for a club with the championship idea. And when the Athletics recently mauled the Indians' pitchers for 20 hits and 22 extra base, which equaled the major league record, Doc Johnston took a merry part in the pasting, with a pair of triples and a brace of singles in five trips.

Derrill Pratt went to the Red Sox in one of the numerous "house" deals between the Red Sox and the Yankees. He lost a piece of world's series money by that move and therefore his glee was something sinful when he bumped a homer into the stands at the Polo grounds this spring, defeating the champions.

John McGraw got angry at Phil Douglas and Jess Barnes last winter and announced that any club in the league could have either or both for a very moderate price and the customary trade discount for cash. In their spring stands around the East, the Giants would have been beaten several times but for the same Douglas and the very identical Jess Barnes.

And eventually it was no less than Barnes in person who pitched that no-hit, no-run game against the Phils, facing only 27 batters and permitting just one man to arrive at first.

That was a dramatic revenge for Jessica.

Partly Cloudy Weather

New York, Oct. 6.—Partly cloudy but with bits of sunshine that bade fair to burn the skies clear by game time, was the weather for the third game of the world's series today. The weather forecast for today read: Somewhat cooler with moderate winds, promised by this afternoon.

DECISION ON SELLING LIQUOR ON SHIPBOARD

(By United Press.)

Washington, Oct. 6—The government's action with respect to the sale of liquor on shipping board vessels will be finally determined at a conference late today, attended by President Harding, Secretary of State Hughes, Attorney General Daugherty, and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

An announcement will be made at 5 p. m. it was stated.

After That He Evaded Traps.

"Why have I never married?" the confirmed bachelor repeated a leading question. "Well, once upon a time in a crowd I trod on a lady's gown. She turned, furiously, beginning, 'You clumsy brute!' Then she smiled sweetly, and said: 'Oh, I beg your pardon, I thought you were my husband. No, it really doesn't matter in the least.' And when I came to think it over I decided that I'd better let marriage alone."

Not So Bad as It Could Be.

The car of Juggernaut wasn't as bad as it might have been, inasmuch as it carried no muffler cut-out to add insult to injury.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SIKI, SENEGALESE, WHO BEAT CARPENTIER FOR WORLD'S LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE

Battling Siki, the dusky boxer who dethroned Georges Carpentier by defeating the former French idol in the sixth round of a scheduled twenty round bout, is the latest Paris sensation. Siki weighs only 173 pounds and is 5 feet, 11 inches tall. Harry Wills, the colored heavyweight champion, would have a great advantage in weight and reach over Siki.

BUNT IS COMING BACK

The bunt in baseball is due to come back. The season of 1922 is certain to see a revival of the bunt as an offensive weapon. The lively ball and a desire to emulate the deeds of Babe Ruth has crowded the bunt off the baseball map for several years.

The bunt is a one-run play. It means much to get a one-run advantage under the ordinary conditions. For several years, however, one run has meant nothing in the life of a ball team.

The lively ball always opened up possibilities for getting runs in clusters. For that reason most teams kissed the bunt good-by, placing it securely away with the moth balls.

With a less lively ball and better pitching the bunt is sure to return to popular favor during this season.

It's a great method to put the opposition in the air, throw a pitcher off his stride, one of baseball's most dangerous weapons on offense.

REVENGE VERY SWEET TO CAST-OFF PLAYER

Released Ball Stars Come Back for Vindication.

Urban Shocker of St. Louis Browns Known as Nemesis of New York Yankees—Johnston Gets Even With the Indians.

Revenge tastes fairly sweet under ordinary circumstances but there must be a fierce joy in the public revenge of a cast-off ball player.

The Yankees hocked Urban Shocker to the Browns in 1918 and ever since then Shocker has been known as the nemesis of the Yankees. His chief delight is to pitch to Babe Ruth at the Polo grounds where all New York may see, scorning the intentional pass because he seems to know that he has more "on" the Bam than any other pitcher in the league.

The Indians got rid of Doc Johnston because he was too old for a club with the championship idea. And when the Athletics recently mauled the Indians' pitchers for 20 hits and 22 extra base, which equaled the major league record, Doc Johnston took a merry part in the pasting, with a pair of triples and a brace of singles in five trips.

Derrill Pratt went to the Red Sox in one of the numerous "house" deals between the Red Sox and the Yankees. He lost a piece of world's series money by that move and therefore his glee was something sinful when he bumped a homer into the stands at the Polo grounds this spring, defeating the champions.

John McGraw got angry at Phil Douglas and Jess Barnes last winter and announced that any club in the league could have either or both for a very moderate price and the customary trade discount for cash. In their spring stands around the East, the Giants would have been beaten several times but for the same Douglas and the very identical Jess Barnes.

And eventually it was no less than Barnes in person who pitched that no-hit, no-run game against the Phils, facing only 27 batters and permitting just one man to arrive at first.

That was a dramatic revenge for Jessica.
